

Geocaching & Letterboxing

EVERY GREAT ADVENTURE BEGINS WITH A CLUE

Geocaching and Letterboxing are two awesome ways to explore the world. Think “treasure hunting,” only without the worry of being stranded on a deserted island or of having to walk the plank. You get clues about where a cache is located, including GPS coordinates, but it’s up to you to find it. And you never really know what you’re going to find.

Not only do geocaching and letterboxing offer adventure, they’re also great ways to connect with people from around the world.

There’s the rush you get from the sense of discovery, but there’s also an element of secrecy as the caches and boxes are carefully hidden in state parks, along hiking trails, in the middle of rivers, even in downtown historic districts. Are you up for a little adventure? ■

Photo courtesy of Chemung River Friends.

We've got what you're looking for!

“Letterboxing attracts a diverse following. Families appreciate the outdoor activity and bonding experience. . . . Artistic types delight in carving the stamps, handcrafting logbooks and creating distinctive boxes. . . . Although some instructions offer fairly straightforward directions, puzzle addicts love the challenge of solving and creating clues replete with clever puns, math formulas and other riddles.”

—Deirdre Van Dyk, Time Magazine

► For more information about Geocaching and Letterboxing in Corning & the Finger Lakes:

Sojourn Geocache Trail
www.FL-Sojourn.com

Geocaching
www.GeoCaching.com

Letterboxing
www.Letterboxing.org

Steuben County Conference & Visitors Bureau
866.946.3386
www.CorningFingerLakes.com